With BBQ season fast approaching, now is the time to up your grill game. Gas is fine for a quick barbie after the beach but for a real event you need wood.

Join Head Chef Alex Aitken, Somm Sven Nielsen, wood supplier Mark Hatch from Country Woods, and Pokeno's Master Butcher Pat Clotworthy at Molten Wine Bar to learn how to grill like a pro.

After lighting the fires with Mark, Pat will take you through some basic butchering skills and let you know what to look for when selecting your meat at a butcher's shop. Alex will take you through grilling and tasting several different cuts of meat, while Sven shares some of his ideas on matching smokey, charred wood fire flavours in food with some of his favourite wine and beer.

Saturday October 15th and Saturday October 29th 3pm - 5pm. $95pp.
Limited to 12 places per event. Book at moltenwinebar@gmail.com

COCKTAILS

Don't Mind If I Do

16

Tanqueray Gin, St. Germain, fresh lime & celery bitters.

A cocktail heavy with vegetable flavours, sweetened and shaken up with egg white to give a light, dessert-like consistency. Tanqueray gin, a blend of 4 time distilled gin & hand-picked botanicals with 180 years of excellence. The recipe for Celery bitters was unused and forgotten for decades and has been rediscovered and remade only recently.

Apparent Sour

Aperol, St. Germain & fresh lime.

If you are looking for a refreshing, softer, fruitier cocktail without losing your dignity then this is for you. It's delicious and also has a low alcohol content. Aperol is a liqueur made from bitter orange, gentian and rhubarb. The flavour and smell of the drink is that of a delicious garden.

Sweet&Sour Rum

Gosling's Black Seal Rum, Aperol, Ruby Red Grapefruit, Agave syrup & fresh lime.

Any rum lovers' dream. The perfect balance of sweet and tart, combined with the pure taste of dark Bermudan rum. Get lost in a sea of flavour.
